

Wampok Tents
May 3.

Dear Haegeen

I write again sooner than I expected I have done, for the poor coolies having again overtaken me already. Nothing remarkable has turned up in my way; the coolies between remarkably well & my camp appears all in good order. The people along the road are as civil as they were when the Rajah so visited it - - Some of the lower parts of this valley are much darker & more ^{humid} ~~moist~~ like Whothas than any I have seen - I am sure they are transition points from trans. India to Java.
Still the women are genuine Whothas their habitations are very low & sturdy but. - I am along another very remarkable dead flat for 2 miles outwards along the ruins of a 50 ft. above its level. I doubt not the floor of this valley when the latter was an arm of the Sea.

Tending quite certain to be an eruptive sub. of the porphyry, which was thrown up to the clay slate & mica sh. - the rocks of the latter dip various ways round the top, when above the Quartz, a sort of fine grained porphyry is found. Hence, though the general mass of the Porphyry is owing to the great granite outburst of the central chain, the individual dips & ranges of the Substrata may be the effects of isolated throes & eruptions, having no (antecedent or posterior to both to &) direct relation to their finished state to the central chain. If the great Throes, may have sent up the strata to of Tending to a mean level of say 10000 ft. & a succeeding local outbreak of Quartz porphyry thrown up to still higher & protruded to its conical top. This secondary action as I am tried to explain to you, may have so shaken the original position of all the strata, that now no relation is seen to the great ramp is preserved. I take 2 throes for Tending - but why were there not 10000 successive ones? or by itself: you may connect with the den upheaving forces each shaking & disturbing with any Tending but in a definite area around it.

It is evident that no two successive throes will similarly affect the same place: for the forces overcome by the first will give place to a rise

As then visit once for the 2^d to try on. I am getting on with my Journal. I hope to send it to you soon.

I have asked Campbell to send me a bundle of Nepal papers from my room which please let my people put up & ~~send~~ ^{take} to Campbell for transcription. Now get a Taylor, both request to him. Don't forget to take care about your friends of my picture.

I am ever affectionately Yours
J. H. H. H.

I am sending to
