To the Trustees of the Royal College of Surgeons
London

Gentl,

During my residence in India I made extensive collections with a view to illustrate the zoology of the ^{Nepal} Himalayan regions, and, being not insensible of the high importance of whatever tends to fix the science of Zoology on the firm basis of structural peculiarities, I preserved ^{as brought} the ~~bones~~ ^{a great many} ^(more or less perfect) skeletons of such quadrupeds & birds as were procured hereby proposed the College of Surgeons will be pleased to place me in communication with the person who will be directed to receive the specimens and to send them to the British Museum I have the honor to be,

Dear Sir,
Your obedient servant,
J. G. S.
